 2nd International Conference on Cancer Prevention

Cancer prevention is of central importance: Although at least 37.4% of all cancers in Germany could potentially be prevented by primary prevention alone, the potential of cancer prevention and screening is only being exploited to a limited extent.

With the 2nd International DKFZ Conference on Cancer Prevention, the event particularly wants to promote cooperation with international cancer prevention experts and raise awareness of the topic of prevention in the population. This conference, with its outstanding and far-reaching opportunities for highly innovative and original research areas, will help to bring together scientific expertise and promote exchange.
