The world leading trade fair analytica has been your guarantee for the successful presentation of innovative laboratory technology and future-oriented biotechnology for nearly 50 years. It is the most important industry gathering and brings together the entire range of topics that pertain to laboratories in research and industry.

World's largest industry gathering—International trade fair

analytica is the world's leading marketplace for products and services along the entire value chain for modern laboratory processes. It is where the industry's key players and decision-makers meet.

Structured exhibition sectors—The complete spectrum

Only analytica gives you a comprehensive overview of the entire range of topics that pertain to the laboratory in research and industry.

- Analysis and quality control
- Biotechnology, Life Sciences and diagnostics
- Laboratory technology

Highly concentrated expertise—The analytica conference

The three-day analytica conference is the scientific heart of analytica. Renowned experts report on the current status of international innovations. Profit from inspiring dialog with well-known scientists from around the world.
