Europe's fundamental science is its competitive edge. And right now, it needs visibility, partners, and investment more than ever.

For the first time, BIO-Europe Spring and LSX Europe will take place back-to-back in Lisbon in March 2026, creating the most comprehensive meeting point for the life science innovation lifecycle.

What does this mean for you?

- Even more opportunities for networking and business development
- Four full days of meetings and networking opportunities to build partnerships
- Industry insights across all stages of the development lifecycle
