Forum Introduction

Today's Bioprocessing is the base of several emerging industries and technologies, including the production of therapeutic stem cells, gene therapy vectors, and new vaccines. Advances in Bioprocessing is a particular interest to the industry as it considerably shortens the development timeline, improves the final product and increase the productivity of Bio-manufacturing facilities.

Cparity's World Smart Bioprocessing: Pharma 4.0 Summit is launching a world platform across the Pharma & Biopharmaceutical Manufacturing community to present their technological advances, to boost innovation and exchange insights on current challenges. The event will gather top leaders in a 3-day event, aiming to promote a high level participation to provide the appropriate environment for dialogue with peers from pharma, biotech, schools, and pharma suppliers to maximize our efforts and profit in the industry.

This Summit program comprises complex case studies, workshops, panels and breakouts. It will combine forward-thinking leaders from different industries to discuss a range of topics on Bioprocessing and Smart manufacturing. We will approach main challenges, innovations and new technologies.

Join our event to learn and get inspired from world leading industry experts and improve your business performance!
